RUSSIAN ARMIES CLAM VICTORIES IN UKRAINE SECTOR

RED COUNTERATTACKS RECAPTURE VILLAGES IN MOSCOW FIGHTING

By the Associated Press
Russia's Red armies reported today they had recaptured part of Rostov-on-Don in the Ukraine, smashed back German assault forces in three key sectors on the central front before Moscow, and killed more than 9,000 Nazis in bloody fighting along the 1,200-mile battlefield. Linked with this brightening picture of Russia's defense effort, a British broadcast said Red counter-attacks on the north flank of Moscow's defense arc had recaptured 10 villages between Klin and Kalinin, respectively 50 and 95 miles northwest of the capital.

The Moscow radio said General Gregory K. Zhukov's Red armies had launched a powerful counter-attack northwest of the capital, crossed the ice-topped Volga river and driven the Germans out of town after town in an advance still continuing.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters acknowledged that Soviet armies were fighting again "at Rostov," although previous Nazi reports asserted that German forces had pushed the Russians 35 miles beyond Rostov after capturing that Don river port, northern gateway to the Caucasus oil fields.

The German communiqué said the Russians suffered heavy losses in "ruthless renewed attacks" at Rostov, while the Soviet radio declared Red army troops had retaken the old section of the port city after a fierce fight.

The Nazi high command said German forces were clearing the center of the city in "necessary measures against the population, which, contrary to international law, participated in fighting at the rear of German troops."

Presumably, this meant that when Red army troops stormed into the old part of Rostov, driving the Germans out, residents of the captured city brought out hidden arms and sniped at the Nazis from the rear.

On the central front, Hitler's high command claimed a new advance in the two-month-old drive on Moscow but gave no details.

Soviet front-line dispatches said 2,000 Germans had been killed in the Klin sector, another 2,000 by Russian aerial attacks, and more than 5,000 in fighting around Leningrad.

The Moscow newspaper Pravda gave this summary of the struggle on the central front:

Volokolamsk, 65 miles northwest of Moscow—the Germans attempted to advance along a highway but were thrown back across a river and lost several towns.

Mozhaisk, 57 miles west—the Germans were repulsed in trying to cross an anti-tank ditch.

Stalingrad, 120 miles south-east—Russian counter-attacks drove the Nazi invaders from two villages.

Bitter, all-night fighting raged along the entire front from Leningrad to Rostov, the Russians said, with the Germans also intensifying their drive against Russia's beleaguered Crimean naval base at Sevastopol.

"The threat to Sevastopol is growing," the Soviet radio acknowledged.

On the North African war front, Britain's desert armies were reported plunging westward across the sandy wastes of Libya, striking at the heart of Gen. Erwin Rommel's main German corps, while other imperial forces closed in on Tunis.

One of the British submarines, the Tigris, under command of Commander H. F. Bone, has sunk five Axis ships and seriously damaged a sixth, the bulletin said.

One of these attacks was against the Marmansk front, the communiqué said.

British submarines operating in Arctic waters "have been inflicting severe losses upon German troops transports and supply ships carrying reinforcements of men and material to the German armies on the Marmansk front," the communiqué said.

STRIKE - CURBING LEGISLATION IS HOUSE PROBLEM

Administration Leaders Work to Bring About Vote by Next Week; Railroads Renew Opposition to Demands

THREE METHODS SEEN

Washington, Nov. 29.—(P)—Congress today faced the formidable task of framing a strike-curbing law mutually acceptable to the public, labor and management.

While administration leaders in the house worked against odds to bring about a vote next week on the highly controversial issue, spokesmen for the nation's railroads renewed their opposition to the demands of 1,250,000 workers for pay increases totaling about $400,000,000 a year.

On the legislative front, the house leaders were engaged in an unusually difficult parliamentary situation. They were committed to give due consideration to some rather drastic legislation, and at the same time allow some advantage to a milder measure recommended by the labor committee.

These bills were expected to provide the tests of strength:

1. By the labor committee—Give the national defense mediation machinery for conciliation and arbitration. If labor refused to accept an arbitration board's recommendation, it would lose its rights under the national labor relations act, the Norris-La Guardia act, and the unemployment compensation law; a refusal by management would lead to the government taking over its plant.

2. By the labor committee—Give legal authority for the mediation board and the conciliation and arbitration processes, plus discretionary authority for President Roosevelt to invoke compulsory arbitration. If labor refused to accept an arbitration board's recommendation, it would lose its rights under the national labor relations act, the Norris-La Guardia act, and the unemployment compensation law; a refusal by management would lead to the government taking over its plant.

3. By Rep. Smith (D-Va.)—Freeze all existing open and closed shop arrangements, forbid sympathy strikes.

FAMOUS MINE CLOSED NEAR REYNOLDSVILLE

Reynoldsville, Nov. 29.—(P)—About 400 men at the nearby coal mining hamlet of Adrian lost their jobs today with closing of the Adrian mine of the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal Company after 55 years of operation.

Superintendent Wellington Craig announced halting of production, marking finish of one of the richest mines in soft coal fields of this area. Since opening of the mine in 1886 it has yielded approximately 37,000,000 tons of coal with production hitting a high mark of more than a million tons yearly preceding the World War.

The selection of the dean of Radcliffe College for the post was announced last night.

Miss McBride, a native of Philadelphia, succeeds Miss Marion Edwards Park, president for the last 20 years, who had reached the retirement age. From 1934 to 1940, Miss McBride was a member of the college's education and psychology department.

ANTI - INFLATION MEASURE GIVEN HOUSE APPROVAL

Badly Battered Version of Administration Price Control Bill Sent to Senate; Little Chance of Early Passage

WOULD FIX CEILINGS

BY REG INGRAHAM
Washington, Nov. 29.—(P)—A badly-battered version of the administration's anti-inflation price control bill rested on the senate's doorstep today after a wearing trip through the house, but there seemed little chance of its becoming law before next year.

The legislation, which President Roosevelt requested four months ago to avert the threat of unchecked inflation arising from the huge defense spending program, passed the house last night by a roll-call vote of 224 to 161, but only at the cost of major concessions and several defeats for administration forces.

Senate leaders indicated that while committee consideration of the measure might begin relatively soon, there was little chance of Senate action on it at this session. It took the house banking committee more than three months to draft the bill.

Before the house agreed to approve the legislation, it performed a number of major operations on the measure, including changes which some members contended would be fatal. Administration leaders privately expressed hope, however, that some of the eliminated provisions could be restored in the senate or by a joint senate-house conference committee.

As approved by the house, the bill would authorize a price-control administrator to establish ceilings over commodity prices which get out of line with the rest of the price structure, but a board of review, provided at the insistence of the Republican membership, was empowered to set aside his rulings upon appeals.

The administrator also could prescribe ceilings for rents in defense areas, based on rents prevailing around April 1, 1940, if state and local governments failed to adopt his recommendations for such regulations within 60 days.

What had promised to be the major fight of the bill—the attempt of the administration to write into the measure power for the price administrator to use a system of licensing as an enforcement aid—sputtered out and amounted to little more than a gesture.

When the balloting was over, Rep. Short (R-Mo.) summed up the situation this way:

"A hodgepodge. I doubt that a single member of the committee knows now what's in this bill."

Two INJURED IN PHILADELPHIA BLAST

Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—(P)—Two men were injured, one seriously, in an explosion today at the Madland Duralather Company's rubber manufacturing plant.

Frank Starzynski, 46, most seriously injured, suffered burns about the head. Sylvester A. Trano, 27, also was burned.

The blast lifted away part of the building's roof and forced 30 other employees to leave the plant. The cause of the explosion was not immediately determined.

STATE ELECTION BUREAU STUMPED

Harrisburg, Nov. 29.—(P)—The congressional reapportionment puzzle even has the State Election Bureau stumped.

Unless the legislature agrees on a redistricting plan, the state's 33 congressmen will be elected on a state-wide basis next year. The 1940 census required Pennsylvania to cut one congressman from its present group of 34.

If the congressional map at large, they would qualify as statewide candidates, and the race for that is $50, the same as for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of internal affairs. The code, however, specifically lists $35 as the fee for congressional candidates.

The law requires 200 signers of a nominating petition from the congressional district involved to run for the seat. Statewide candidates are required to get 100 signers in each of five counties.

"Frankly, we don't know yet how to rule on these points," said Gene Smith, deputy secretary of the commonwealth.

PEACE IN CHINA IS NAZI AIM

Nanking Sources Disclose Effort Being Made by Germans to Bring About Negotiated Settlement of Sino-Japanese War; Would Release Forces For Action Elsewhere

RAW MATERIALS CUT OFF BY ABCD POWERS

BY CLARK LEE
Manila, Nov. 29.—(P)—Nazi agents in the Far East are making a determined attempt to bring about a negotiated peace between Japan and China, quarters closely connected with Japan's puppet regime at Nanking disclosed today.

At the same time an authorized Chinese source declared that any lessening of United States aid to China might force Chungking to accept peace terms.

The German campaign was said to have been under way for some weeks.

Nanking sources said the Germans had advanced peace feelers through Premier Wang Ching-wei's puppet government, which maintains secret communication with some element at Chungking, and that both Consul Fritz Weidemann, formerly consul general at San Francisco, who recently arrived in Tokyo, and Heinrich Georg Stahmer, formerly a special German envoy to Tokyo, who recently took up his post as ambassador to Nanking, had definite instructions from Hitler to seek a Chinese-Japanese rapprochement.

The German purpose was said to be the release of the Japanese army and air force now pinned down in China for thrusts in other directions in the Orient.

The outcome, Nanking quarters suggested, depended upon Japanese success in negotiations and whether these resulted in assuring the flow of supplies to Chiang-Kai-Shek.

All available reports from Japan indicate that there is increasing agitation there to break what the Japanese call economic encirclement by the United States, Britain, China, Netherlands East Indies and the Soviet Union.

In the words of the Japanese, this has become a "strangulation," choking their country to death economically and surrounding it with a tightening ring of steel.

In short, while United States airplane factories, shipyards and munitions plants are working day and night in a great program just getting under way, Japan's industrial machine is creaking got a halt.

The Japanese are reported to be completing shortly two and possibly four 45,000-ton battleships, but otherwise the shipbuilding industry is crippled by lack of steel and Japan has no hope of matching the U. S. building program.

Japan normally imports 32 strategic raw materials, but today she is getting nothing beyond coal from China, cotton from China, Brazil and Peru, some crude oil from Mexico, some rice and rubber from Indo-China, and rice and tin from Thailand.

Every gallon of aviation fuel burned by Japanese planes is non-combat.

IDEAL WEATHER PREVAILS AS ARMY AND NAVY PLAY 42d ANNUAL GAME

Municipal Stadium, Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—(P)—A bright sun and a slight breeze combined today to burn and blow away a morning fog and provide a perfect setting for the 42nd football meeting of the Army and Navy.

The weather didn't look too good to the early arrivals. But by the time the regiment of midshipmen, at its record emergency strength of 3,110 men, entered the east gate on the dot of 12:15 p. m. (EST), the sun was shining cheerfully. As the midshipmen marched in they were welcomed by a tremendous roar from what already was almost a full house of 98,942 spectators—though the kickoff was not scheduled until 1:30.

In addition to the usual throng of celebrities and dignitaries, the crowd included an unusual number of football coaches—among them Bernie Bierman of Minnesota, Carl Snavely of Cornell and Ossie Solem, of Syracuse. Chief of the officials on each side of the field were Secretary of the Navy Knox and Secretary of War Stimson.

Representing the president was to spend half the game with Army and half with Navy.

The president's wife arrived just after the entire regiment of midshipmen had marched on to the field.

Santa Claus Hailed By Big Crowd Here

Faces Senate Quiz

Charles West, above, former Ohio congressman and under-secretary of interior, will have to tell a Senate committee of his activities in getting defense contracts for clients, one of whom West sued for a $687,000 fee.

Official proof that Christmas is just around the corner was demonstrated this afternoon when Santa Claus arrived promptly on schedule at 1:15 o'clock at the Warren Airport, coming in a fast, big plane from his headquarters at the North Pole.

The fact that his coming was anticipated not only by the youngsters was evidenced by the large crowd of adults on hand to see the jolly patron saint alight from the cream-colored plane, which has replaced the traditional sleigh and reindeer.

Before his plane landed it circled the field once and the jolly old fellow filled the hearts of his little admirers with joy by waving a greeting from the speeding plane.

The first person to greet the distinguished visitor was Burgess R. W. Steber, who welcomed him to the town for the youngsters. After Santa had greeted almost every little person at the field, he was invited to ride in a special car which had been waiting for him and was taken to the East Side to lead the big parade this afternoon.

Escorted by the police car his trip to the East Side created considerable excitement along the route, which already was lined with huge crowds waiting for parade time.

At press time this afternoon the long procession was just passing in review.

YANKEE STARS WILL HUNT NEAR ST. MARYS

St. Marys, Nov. 29.—(P)—Vernon "Lefty" Gomez and Joe DiMaggio, New York Yankee baseball stars, will join the army of Pennsylvania deer hunters next week.

They will make their headquarters two miles south of here at the Trout Run lodge of Col. William Kaul, who three years ago was host to Vice President John N. Garner.

It will be a return engagement for Gomez, who bagged his first deer last year in this area.

George said that "Japan is moving toward a point where she will either have to create war in the Far East or reach an adjustment with the United States and Great Britain. She now is confronted with partial economic isolation, and her supplies gradually are being depleted."

ASKS CONGRESS TO INVESTIGATE SECURITY BOARD

Harrisburg, Nov. 29.—(P)—Lewis G. Hines, secretary of labor and industry, disclosed today he has suggested a congressional investigation of the federal social security board to all of Pennsylvania's Republican congressmen.

The secretary said the commonwealth's senior senator James J. Davis attended two meetings with officials of the board in Washington at his request and added:

"He (Davis) was amazed at the high-handed way they were running things."

Hines has long been at odds with board officials over personnel problems, division of employment and unemployment compensation which are financed with social security board funds.

He asserted he has been corresponding with officials of other states on plans to oppose federalization of the employment and jobless benefit systems.

FAR EAST SITUATION WATCHED

Secretary of State Hull and Lord Halifax, British Ambassador, Confer on Critical Condition as Capital Awaits Next Move by Tokyo; Britain Ready to Cooperate

Washington, Nov. 29.—(P)—Secretary of State Hull and Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, talked over the critical far eastern situation for almost an hour today, and along with the rest of the capital waited to see whether Japan chose peace or war in the Pacific.

Halifax told reporters that Britain was cooperating closely with the United States and was in harmony with the attitude taken by the United States—that it was up to Japan alone to make the fateful choice.

Hull told his press conference there was nothing to be said concerning the situation until the Japanese government had indicated its attitude toward the communication he handed the Japanese envoys here.

Asked whether he thought that a Japanese attack on Thailand would result in a major conflict in the Pacific, the secretary declined to reply, referring the question to the army and navy.

The legislative as well as the executive branch of government watched alertly for Tokyo's next move, following reports that Japan was concentrating troops in Indo-China and that Thailand was preparing herself against possible attack.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the senate foreign relations committee asserted that "if Japan should invade Thailand the United States might 'concentrate some of our naval squadrons in that general area to see that American rights are respected.'"

"If Japan moves into Thailand," he told reporters, "then we ought to tighten our economic measures against her."

Coincidentally, Senator George (D-Ga.), ranking member of the foreign relations group, said that "all the balls Japan has been pitching have strings tied to them."

George said that "Japan is moving toward a point where she will either have to create war in the Far East or reach an adjustment with the United States and Great Britain. She now is confronted with partial economic isolation, and her supplies gradually are being depleted."

"If she should choose war, then there is bound to be very close cooperation between the United States and Great Britain. It might (Turn To Page Nine)

FIRST UNIT OF ARMY STORAGE DEPOT OPEN

Marietta, Pa., Nov. 29.—(P)—The army took possession today of the first part of its huge $6,000,000 storage depot, six weeks ahead of schedule.

Keys to the first of six big warehouses were turned over to Lieut. Col. L. B. Douglas of the U. S. Quartermaster Corps, who yesterday was named commander of the depot.

The plant is designed as a storage house for war materials, some of which are destined to allies under the lend-lease program. They will be kept here until ships are at dock, and rushed to port.

A formal celebration of the competition of the first units is scheduled for Monday.

MINNESOTA GIRL WINS FIRST BLUE RIBBON AT LIVESTOCK EXPOSITION

Chicago, Nov. 29.—(P)—A 19-year-old Minnesota girl, Helen Alföldi of Pipestone, who keeps house for her widowed father on a 130-acre farm, won the first blue ribbon of the 42nd International Livestock Exposition which opened today.

Her lightweight shorthorn steer, "Gene," was adjudged best in its class in the junior livestock feeding contest, an award given by W. L. Carlyle, manager of the Duke of Windsor's ranch near Calgary, Alberta, Can., the principal star judge of the show.

Agricultural raw materials from the nation's market basket formed a vast display at the exposition. There was a grand total of 13,149 animals from 31 states and three Canadian provinces and 5,000 samples from 34 states and five provinces in the 23rd International Grain and Hay Show. The exhibition offered $100,000 in prizes and exhibitors expected to realize nearly $2,000,000 from sales.

Manager B. H. Heide said the livestock at the show, which will run through Dec. 6, was worth about $3,000,000.

Three farm boys from St. Lawrence county, N. Y., won the junior livestock judging contest last night over state champion teams from 26 other states.

Maurice Mox, 17, of Henkelton; Stewart Culbert, 18, and Germain Marion, 17, both of Hammond, formed the winning team.

Marienville Preparing For Annual Invasion of Crimson-Clad Hunters

Marienville, Nov. 29.—(P.)—The Redcoats are coming—and that's gladsome tidings to this tiny Forest county town to which the annual invasion of crimson-clad deer hunters is a gala event yielding a rich harvest of dollars.

Normally a quiet glass-making community, Marienville during Pennsylvania's deer season finds its population swollen and its calm disturbed by a horde of good-natured nimrods eager to bring a deer out of the nearby woods as a souvenir of their visit. Deer are plentiful in second-growth timber which encroaches on Marienville's borders and the little town long has been a sort of deer hunting capital because it's just a whop to a holler to the big game territory.

Although deer season doesn't open until Monday, the firing lines began to form today as the hunters took advantage of the weekend to seek quarters in camps and cabins. With pieces of crimson sewed and tied on or woven into their khaki coats and hats, the hunters look like a strange, raggle-taggle army as they move in an unceasing parade into and through Marienville.

The red on their costumes is a bright hue warning to prevent fellow hunters from making them an unwitting target in mistake for a deer as they move through the woods. Marienville's facilities for hospitality are strained to the limit by the visitors who crowd the town's restaurants and lodging houses to the doors.

Legal deer kills are limited this year to antlered bucks but this has not expected to cut down the number of hunters and hunters, too—who invade Marienville.

SOCIAL SECURITY LIST CONTAINS 287,000 NAMES

In a statement today, Secretary of Labor and Industry Lewis G. Hines announced that 287,000 persons have registered for Social Security numbers in Pennsylvania during the past six months. "This figure," the secretary said, "now brings the total number of individuals currently registered with the Bureau of Employment and Unemployment Compensation to nearly 5,000,000."

"This period covers the normally high registration weeks following the completion of the school year. For instance, in the third week in June, 1933, registrations found their way into the Bureau's mammoth files. The average weekly registration for this period was 10,200."

"These registrations are received at the 30 field offices of the Federal Social Security Board located in all sections of the state. They come into possession of the Commonwealth, when duplicate copies are forwarded to the Bureau's central office at Harrisburg by the Federal authorities. Here they are employed as a reference file to check on the millions of wage records submitted quarterly by Pennsylvania employers."

Secretary Hines went on to say, "In the second quarter of this year alone, the Bureau was able to correct with the aid of this file and through correspondence over 68,000 wage records forwarded to Harrisburg with incorrect social security numbers."

SCHOOL CHOIR PLANNING FOR WINTER CONCERT

The a cappella choir of Warren High School will present its fourth annual winter concert in the school auditorium on Friday evening, December 5, at 8:15 o'clock, according to announcement made today by the director, Carroll A. Fowler.

The program this year departs from the Christmas theme to include only secular and religious songs with texts of a general character.

Of interest to all, particularly at this time, is the closing feature of the proposed program—The Ballad for Americans. This interesting work of a patriotic nature is written for baritone soloist with chorus parts. The choir is especially fortunate in securing as soloist Roger Webster, well known baritone, who is soloist at the First Lutheran church.

The Ballad, a modern work first introduced on the radio by the internationally known Paul Robeson and later recorded by him, is being received with enthusiasm by audiences throughout the nation. Many music lovers will recall the performance of the work at Chautauque the past season.

An ensemble of violins, directed by Harry Summers, will play several varied and interesting selections. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the choir. The complete program will appear in these columns at a later date.

Highway Department Officials Set For Snow Removal in Warren Area

Preparations are being made at the Warren county office of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways for the coming winter season with its problems of keeping roads in this section in good condition for traffic, it was stated by C. H. Seigworth, superintendent.

There are 254.82 miles of highways in the county which are on the snow removal program of the highway department, it was pointed out today by Mr. Seigworth. This includes 174.65 miles of primary roads and 80.17 miles of rural roads, it was stated.

In order to keep traffic moving at normal pace, it is necessary for the department's large fleet of trucks and tractors to be ready for duty at any hour of the day or night, it was stated.

The mileage on the snow removal program does not include all improved roads in the county, although it covers the principal sections. Other roads not on the program are plowed by the department when time permits after the regular snow removal routes are cleared.

Because of the long distances covered, it sometimes requires many hours to keep the roads open and for this reason, some of the highways not on the program are not reached for several days.

Following is a list of roads in the county which are on the snow removal program:

U. S. Route 6 (Roosevelt Highway) from McKean county line to Erie county line.

U. S. Route 62 from New York state line, north of Allegheny, to Forest county line, near Tionesta.

Route 27 from near Chancellers Valley (Matthews Run road) via Youngsville, Pittsfield, Garland and Grand Valley to Venango county line near Enterprise.

Route 957 from Russell via Lander, Sugar Grove and Lottsville to U. S. Route 6 near Columbus.

Route 958 from Bear Lake via Lottsville and Wrightsville to U. S. Route 6 at Three Points.

Route 69 from New York state line via Sugar Grove over Jackson Run road to North Warren.

Route 77 from Garland to West Spring Creek.

Route 177 from Spring Creek to Erie county line.

Route 59 from U. S. Route 6 at Rogersville via Kinzua to McKean county line on Sugar Run road.

Route 159 from Sugar Run via Corydon to New York state line.

PHILIPPINES TO BE SUBJECT OF TALK BY CRAIG

"America's stake in the Orient—is it to go as planned or shall it be kept as a part of our defense? What is the Japanese situation? What part do the Philippine Islands play in world affairs?"

These are questions asked daily. Only those who have studied the subject on the ground know the answers, but the answers affect every American citizen.

Captain Craig

Only those in Warren who attend the lecture, "The Philippines Today," to be given here Monday evening at eight o'clock in the Woman's Club auditorium under the sponsorship of the Y. M. C. A. Lecture-Forum Course will be qualified to argue and discuss this and kindred subjects.

Captain John D. Craig, the speaker, brings so vivid a presentation in word picture that audiences are overwhelmed with the factual information they have acquired so easily. Captain Craig brings also superbly lovely moving pictures in color illustrations where words might fail. He shows and tells about the beauty, wealth, real and potential, of the United States' most valuable Pacific possession.

Season tickets for the Lecture-Forum series may be secured at the Y. M. C. A. or at the auditorium Monday evening.

MECHANICAL ERROR DEFEATS CONTRACT, RUINS TITLE HOPE

BY WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
American Card Authority

Some bridge players have the wrong idea about tournaments. They believe tournament contestants always play perfect bridge. Nothing is farther from the truth. Actually, many tournament titles are lost because someone made a simple mistake—an error you might expect at your Tuesday night bridge club.

Here's one that came up in a recent national tournament.

Dummy won the opening lead. Three rounds of trumps were taken. North winning the third.

The queen of diamonds was led and allowed to win. On the next diamond lead, South finessed the ten. But the king was still guarded, and for lack of re-entry to dummy, declarer lost a diamond as well as a heart and two clubs.

This game was lost through a purely mechanical error. The correct way to develop the diamond suit is to lead the nine-spot first not the queen. The nine will hold the lead in dummy if not covered, and so will the queen on the second lead.

To lead the queen first will force South to win the second round, unless South plays the jack or ten under the queen—but if he does so, East can establish a stopper by covering the nine on the second lead.

CAREFUL PLAY OF EACH HAND MAKES CHAMPIONS

Bridge players from all parts of the country will be gathering at Richmond, Va., the first week in December for the winter national tournament. All will be top-flight players, but there will be mistakes made at the bridge tables in Richmond, just as there are slip-ups every time four contract fans get together for a session.

The winners of the tournament will be those who commit the fewest errors, who look ahead on every hand. A little study might have saved this contract:

Two rounds of hearts were led. West ruffing the second. After taking the king and ace of trumps, declarer tried running the diamonds, but found South with a fourth-round stopper.

So he ruffed out his losing diamond, ruffed dummy's last heart and led a trump, hoping for a miracle. But the two top clubs and a long heart won the last three tricks.

It is discouraging to have to try to win a trick with the weak East-West clubs. Nevertheless, declarer was bound to attempt it when the diamonds failed to break. He should have anticipated this possibility by winning the third diamond in dummy.

He knew that South was dealt three spades and at least four hearts. It was a practical certainty that South was shorter in clubs than North. After South showed up with four diamonds, he was marked for not more than two clubs.

Then dummy should have led a club through him. West playing the queen if South ducked. This play will work if South holds more than two clubs, regardless of how the honors are split.

Actually North takes his king and leads a third heart. West ruffs, leads a club and ducks in dummy, dropping the ace.

THAILAND TO BE DESCRIBED BY LOCAL SPEAKER

That Thailand is pro-Axis is but one of the many misconceptions which foreigners have of the country formerly known as Siam, according to Walter Zimmerman, pioneer of the Y. M. C. A. in that nation, who will speak in Warren over the week-end. For ten years, as a member of the International "Y" Committee, Zimmerman has been developing in that far-away country a growing Association movement.

Walter Zimmerman

He will speak in the First Methodist church tomorrow and also will address the Warren Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon meeting at the Y. W. C. A. on Monday noon.

Thailand 1941 is vastly different from the glamorous land to which the Zimmermans set sail ten years ago to establish the first Y. M. C. A. in the last large port city of the world without an Association.

Democratization of life, development of resources and geographical position are fast bringing this nation of 15,000,000 "free people" (translation of Thai) into her own.

"With Burma at her west and French Indo-China (both countries strategically important in the international struggle) on her east, this country is destined to play an increasingly important role in Asian affairs," Mr. Zimmerman says.

"She leads in the production of rice and is important as a producer of teakwood and tin." "Due to general world conditions in the past ten years, this little kingdom has witnessed major social, economic and political transitions. Progressive policies have been established in practically every phase of national life including trunk highways, new waterways and educational facilities."

Danger of Fires During Hunting Season Pointed Out by Officials

Unless the deer hunting season is ushered in with a storm there is grave danger of forest fires occurring in this portion of the state.

The Allegheny National Forest, reports Supervisor R. E. Hemingway, is the favorite hunting territory of thousands of sportsmen. Many inexperienced hunters may not be aware of the potential danger due to lack of recent rainfall.

A deficiency of several inches of rainfall for 1941 has resulted in the occurrence of seven times as many fires this year as last.

For this season warning fires will be strictly forbidden until the ground becomes covered with snow. The danger of forest fires starting from this source is too serious to be overlooked and hunters are urged to put out any fire they may run onto while hunting.

Large signs are being placed at all entrance roads to the Allegheny National Forest calling attention to the fact that campfire permits are required and that warning fires are strictly prohibited.

Weather conditions and the care with which hunters observe fire measures will determine whether or not general closure restrictions will need to be invoked. The conditions at present are truly serious and should they continue into the hunting season extra precautions against fire will need to be taken.

The fact that the trout fishing season opened on one of the most serious fire days in years without a single fire starting proved that sportsmen can enjoy their sport without endangering public safety.

It is believed that the deer hunters will be given at least one day to prove that they too can pursue their favorite sport without causing forest fires. Hunters will need to remember to sit down to smoke and to build camp fires only after obtaining a free camp fire permit and then selecting or making a place absolutely safe for his fire.

Supervisor Hemingway urged that smokers make it a practice to put cigarette stubs dead out before throwing them away. Matches and cigarettes are among the major causes of forest fires, he stated. Hunters are likely to find roads leading into the most hazardous areas closed to public travel until it storms.

CHARGE BOUNDARIES

Announcement of a change in the tentative boundary lines of the war department's Keystone Ordnance Works area, has been made by C. O. Schofield, real estate division project manager at Meadville. Pending final approval by the undersecretary of war, the western boundary of the tract has been revised to follow the Greenwood-East Fallowfield township border line, thus eliminating the latter township from the plant area.

ARRIVES IN MANILA

Word has been received here that Private Samuel A. Regina has arrived safely in the Philippine Islands. He left Savannah, Ga., on November 1, having been stationed there for some time. It is believed he is the only person from this vicinity to make the trip. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Regina, 20 Eddy street.

BROCKWAY YOUTH KILLED

William Winn, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Winn, of Brockway, a senior student at Pennsylvania State College, was fatally injured in a collision of a car he drove and a large truck a mile north of Brockway on Route 219 near Crenshaw at seven o'clock Tuesday evening. Winn died three hours after being admitted to the DuBois hospital.

WARREN CHOIR FESTIVAL

The third annual Warren Choir Festival will be presented at four o'clock Sunday afternoon in Grace Methodist church, and will be honored with the presence of Morten J. Luvaas, guest conductor, from Allegheny College.

The purpose of the festival is very appropriately outlined as follows: "To advance the cause of worthy church music; to increase the appreciation of the responsibilities of both choirmaster and choir member, and to provide inspiration for the individual choirs. But above all, to glorify God."

Music lovers of the community should keep in mind that officers of the festival have announced because of the limited seating capacity and the keen interest shown by citizens generally no children under twelve years will be admitted.

Executive Director Seth Gordon, of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, issues a timely warning that should cause every hunter going into the woods during the deer season to be just a little more careful, when he says that careless and lawless nimrods need expect no mercy from the state's game board. It would be too much to expect that the period for hunting deer pass without accidents in the county, but they can be kept to a minimum if every hunter will do his utmost to prevent injury to himself and others enjoying the same sport.

That broad smile noticed on the faces of some Warren motorists may have resulted from discovery of the fact that they had enough anti-freeze left from last year to care for the family bus. That fluid is going to be pretty scarce before the winter is very old.

It's a lot easier to decorate the exterior of your home in weather like this than to wait until the mercury gets so low that it nips your fingers despite gloves.

The weatherman cooperated 100 per cent, which made everybody happy and grateful.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

"THE GOSPEL"
WILLIAM G. WOODWARD
United Brethren Church

Feb. 10:28—"Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and forever."

In the 15th chapter of his first letter to the Corinthians, the Apostle Paul makes a very significant statement in verses 3, 4 and 5. He declares: 1, Christ crucified. He died for me a sinner; 2, Christ buried, the believers' sins blotted out; 3, Christ risen, He is able to save completely; 4, Christ manifested, He is coming again.

The foregoing is true or the whole structure of Christianity must crumble before the removal of its very foundation. If this is not a fundamental truth, then the whole world of men is living without hope of eternal life. St. John tells us in his gospel that: "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life, and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him." And Peter, a witness, declares that "Christ bore our sins in his body on the tree, that we being dead to sins should live unto righteousness, by whose stripes we are healed." The Apostle Paul in his epistle to the Romans asserts that "The gospel is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth."

God, in His infinite love and mercy has opened up a way for all men to come to Him, to receive redemption from the consequences of sin, and the assurance of eternal felicity and bliss. The majority of people in any city, town, or community would be converted and become sons of God if they believed that Jesus is the Son of God; that the Bible is the Word of God, and that Jesus has shed His life-blood for them. God has sought in many ways to convince men that He loves them, and would not that one of them should perish. He sent holy men to carry the message of love, but the world drove them into dens and caves, they were tied to the stake and burned, and God sent His own Son and they put Him into the grave. But God took Him out of the grave and placed Him on a throne, and raised Him for our justification. Even that was not all, for He sent the Holy Spirit, and He is here today.

Men often try to measure God's love with human love. We cannot measure God's love, for it passeth knowledge. Jesus, having loved His own that were in the world, He loved them unto the end, Judas betrayed Him, but Jesus loved Judas. On the night that He was betrayed, Peter denied Him with curses and swearing, but Jesus loved Peter. God says: "I can never forget thee." God's love is boundless—it never fails. I do not believe that it is the will of God that anyone should be banished from heaven, or that Satan should make a drunkard, a gambler, or a licentious person out of anyone. Each heart has and knows its own bitterness, each one his own trouble or sorrow, but it is not the will of God that we should stumble over our troubles, our sorrows, or our sins, into the grave. Jesus came to bear away earth's sorrow, its wretchedness and sin. He is here to heal the broken-hearted—that is what He came into the world to do, and there is not a broken-hearted person who cannot find sympathy in Christ, if he will. Christ is the sin bearer, and also the burden bearer. There is not a burden that a man cannot take away. He himself said: "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest." Christ did all these things for people during His earthly ministry, and He will do it for men and women today, for He is the "same yesterday, today, and forever."

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

Because straight is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it.—Matthew 7:14.

EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY MILTON BRONNER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
Washington, Nov. 29—Almost 130,000 small business men who have been crying pretty much in vain that the national defense program with its priorities set-up and contract distribution to big business is about to ruin them, may get quick relief if the government accepts a plan outlined by Guy Holcomb, head of the small Business Section of the Anti-Trust Division of the Department of Justice.

In a memorandum to Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, Holcomb says he is convinced that the primary need of small business is an independent governmental agency with authority to act swiftly on specific complaints and problems.

It might be called the Office of Small Business Problems. It would serve as a forum where complaints could be heard and as an independent advocate of the cause of small business. More important, it would act as a trouble-shooter to represent small business and get action, and it would have to be clothed with ample power. The President would probably have full authority to appoint such a board, but Holcomb thinks it would have even more force if Congress enacted a law creating it. The membership would be composed of small business men with a few lawyers to give legal advice.

More than half the complaints from small business men received by Holcomb were drafted after they had failed to get relief from other departments of the government. He found small business men as a whole were distrustful of the Office of Production Management. The leading figures on OPM were big business dollar-a-year men, corporation attorneys, labor leaders and professional economists.

Time after time small business men complained to Holcomb that they saw their big competitors securing priority material after trips to Washington. Holcomb cited a case where a Michigan boiler manufacturer said he was the lowest bidder for installation at an Oklahoma airport, but the award was made to a company bidding $1700 higher. Holcomb contacted the officials in charge and the Michigan man finally got the contract.

A small but well known manufacturer of outdoor motors complained that he was about to close his plant because of priority shift down on materials, while only 16 miles away his largest competitor was getting full swing on government and civilian contracts. Holcomb has tackled this problem and hopes for results.

L. M. Evans, president of Small Business of America, Inc. from his office in Cleveland, has written President Roosevelt complaining that small business men are under siege of economic boycott as strangling to the defense military blockade. He asserts thousands of small business men, who with their employees constitute the largest tax-paying group in every city and state, are facing ruin. Says Evans:

"This pending calamity must be laid at the door of the administrators of national defense who have flagrantly discriminated against small business. Big business has received every consideration, small business none. Perhaps we should have expected this, for the men who head the defense administration are nearly all from big business."

Congress is getting restive about this problem. Senators are not convinced that the President's naming of Floyd Dill as director of OPA's division of contract distribution is a solution. Senator Hatch of New Mexico, head of a special committee to investigate defense program contracts, is alarmed lest America have the experience of Britain, where 20,000

Costa Rica Has More Teachers Than Soldiers

TUCKED away at the southern tip of Central America is Costa Rica, a nation which has more school houses than police stations, more school teachers than soldiers.

The appropriation for education in Costa Rica is the largest per capita in Central America, an item which may well be the determining factor in keeping the number of revolutions to a minimum.

Costa Ricans, in direct contrast to other Central American natives, are white rather than Indian. They are descendants of the Gallegos, the hardest working and the least fortune seeking of the Spaniards who settled in the Americas. The stamp above pictures ancient ruins at Ujarras.

Before the war the people leaned heavily on British and German purchases of bananas and coffee. German capital owned 20 per cent of the coffee plantations. When that trade dwindled the Costa Ricans appealed to the United States for aid.

The U. S. responded with imports of half of the coffee crop and the Export-Import Bank loaned the nation more than $4,000,000 to complete their section of the Pan American highway.

A WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — Capital comment:

Although Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau is the No. 1 salesman of defense saving stamps and bonds, he can't even sell himself a two-biter.

It's not that his sales talk isn't convincing, even to the secretary, but it's against the law.

It seems that back in the 19th century, one of our secretaries did a little government bond buying at the rate of 60 cents on the dollar and sold out at par. After deliberating that for some years, Congress in 1889 came to the conclusion that such tactics weren't strictly on the up and up and passed a law that no secretary could sell himself government securities.

That's why Morgenthau, in spite of being the Nation's No. 1 bond salesman, is his own worst prospect.

PROOF of one of governmental Washington's worst employment shortages is the way that the Civil Service Commission has lowered the requirements on stenographers and typists. It's down now, according to an official who is supposed to know about such things, to such a point that a 16-year-old student in high school typing can qualify for some of the jobs.

The commission's fight to keep ahead of the demand for typists is desperate. Although more than 100,000 have taken the tests in six months or so, the list of "available" is reportedly decreasing.

An interesting phase of the shortage is that only about 50 per cent of the eligibles offered jobs in Washington will accept them. The reason generally given is that stenographer's and typist's pay isn't sufficient to meet the Washington h.c.l.

UNCLE SAM has a standing reward of $25 for the apprehension of all deserters from the Army. The catch in it is that deserters have to be turned over at the post from which they deserted to get the full $25 and no additional fee is paid for keep, cost of arrest, etc. If the Army has to come get the deserter, it only pays $15 reward.

By the way, whatever became of that threat that the boys were going "over the hill in October," if the draft was extended? It was extended.

The Army doesn't hand out any figures, but it is known that there has been no appreciable increase in the number of boys going a.w.o.l. It has been pointed out several times since the draft army started training that actual desertions are comparably lower than ever before.

IT'S not a matter of priorities—but not of priorities and doctors from some areas are complaining of shortage in certain medical supplies, because the Army is buying up such vast quantities.

NAME of the week: U Saw, a prime minister of Burma, who stopped over here on his way home from a visit to Winston Churchill. The gentleman's name is really just Saw—nothing more nor nothing less. The U is a term of respect.

THE PHONE BOOTH MURDER

by Phoebe Atwood Taylor

Chapter Ten
Body In A Trunk

"WELL," Alfred said judicially, "it would, me'am, but for the sake of the trunk, I think I'd better get a spade and a shovel and bury it like we planned, tonight. After all, Mrs. Clutterfield, we don't want anyone to find that body in our trunk. Remember that old lady in Bar Harbor, and the trouble we had there. Cost us quite a tidy sum in bribes before we was through, that time, and all because we didn't bury the body proper."

Asey pulled himself together and took a step forward, and then he paused as the front door of the Inn opened and Mrs. Doane emerged to inquire from the top step if Mrs. Clutterfield was all right.

"Quite, thank you," Mrs. Clutterfield told her with icy politeness.

"The clams came, after all," Mrs. Doane said brightly. "You should have stayed here for dinner. I told you I thought they'd come."

"Really?" Mrs. Clutterfield said. "I had an excellent meal at the Country Club, thank you. Very good clams, and no waiting."

She turned suddenly and walked down the steps and got back into the car.

"Aren't you coming in?" Mrs. Doane sounded faintly worried.

"I have changed my mind," Mrs. Clutterfield announced. "I am going to accompany Alfred on an errand. I may be quite late."

Asey didn't jump for the car at once. His plan was to saunter up about the time that Alfred was bundling Mrs. Clutterfield up with the lap robe, and request some explanations before either of them could recover their poise.

But his plan didn't even begin to work out. It never had a chance.

With a speed that Asey never expected from a man of Alfred's wide girth, Alfred adjusted the lap robe, got in front, started the car, and had it rolling around the driveway turntable and out of the Inn grounds almost before Mrs. Doane had the front door shut, and seconds before Asey thought of moving.

"Flat foot!" Asey muttered in disgust. "Ole flat foot, that's what you are!"

There was no excuse for him. But at least, he thought as he crossed from the clump of lilacs to an arbor on the other side of the drive, at least Mrs. Clutterfield's license-plate numbers were engraved for all time on his mind, and there still might be time, when Hanson came, to look into this fantastic business of Mrs. Clutterfield and her man Friday.

From where he stood he could see Mrs. Doane talking to Freddy in the living room, and Asey found himself wondering just what would happen if he were to barge in and demand to be shown the body at once. With almost any other woman, and in almost any other house, his bluff would probably work. But at the thought of the combination of Mrs. Doane and all that maze of ells, and Asey shook his head. He had nothing to back up his bluff, and they could deny everything till the cows came home. It would be better to wait for Hanson and see what effect his brass buttons and official manner might produce.

Idea

Asey leaned against the arbor. To him, the time element was still the most puzzling thing about the removal of that woman's body. If the girl Freddy actually had gone directly downstairs and phoned Hanson when he told her to, and if she had staid there in the living room until her mother returned, that margin of eight or nine minutes would be sharply reduced to only two or three. The thing, Asey thought, smacked of Thurston and Mulholland and Houdini. A woman was in a box. You saw her in a box. Then, presto! The box was empty and the woman gone.

"Mayo," he said suddenly aloud, "you're a fool! That's what happened here!"

He could see now, as he looked across at the Inn, that the ell in which the telephone booth was located, was far wider than the mere width of the booth. It was certainly three times the width of the booth.

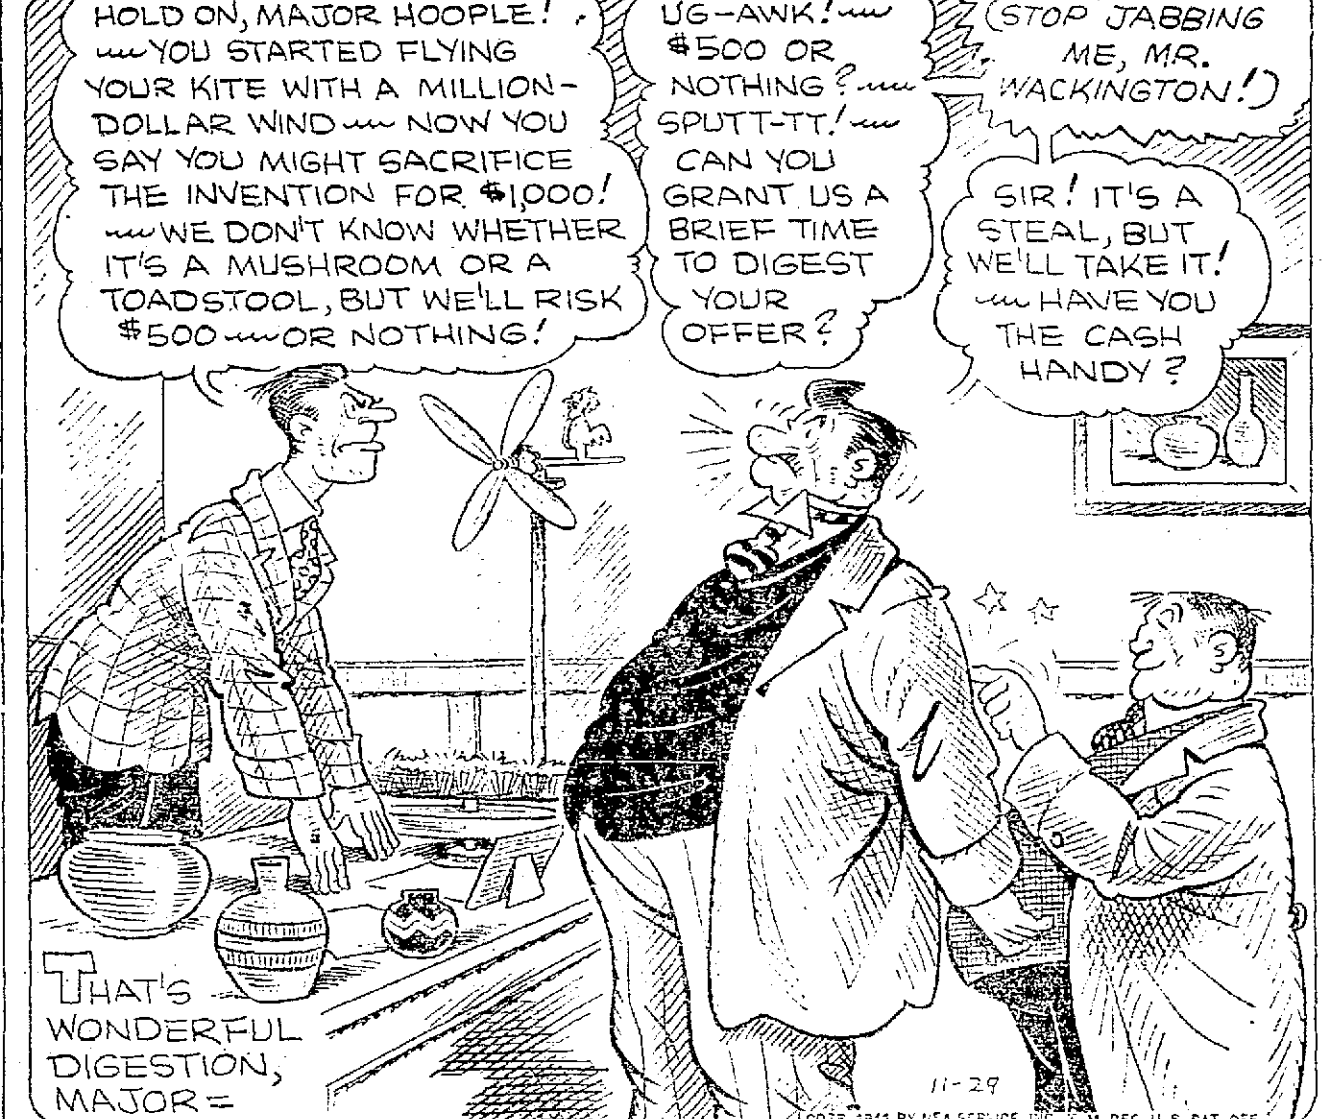

Asey grinned with pleasure as he strode across the driveway. The side of the telephone closet opposite the door opened, and he ought to have known a much, even in candlelight and with a body against it. He had a closet at home in Wellfleet, under his front stairs, that could be entered from the hall on one side and from his sitting room on the other. Neither any latch nor hinges had been visible here at the Inn, but another door was in answer. Asey felt sure it had to be.

He went close to the little window in the ell and was reaching up to unhook the screen when the lights conveniently flashed on inside.

Before he ducked down, Asey saw all that he needed to convince him that, for the first time this

Grove City Tops "Big 15" With Eight Wins and One Loss

East Takes Honors in Class AA Race; Grovers Also Cop Class A Gridiron Gonfalon

Championship trophies identifying their possessors as kings of the northwest Pennsylvania scholastic football realm go this year to Erie East and Grove City high schools, respectively.

Thus East succeeds a sister school, Academy, as the district's ranking double-A team, while Grove City maintains its second successive unbeaten season, replacing as the champion of the Class A circuit that came into formal being only a year ago.

For the Groves it's a singularly strange situation. The Class A league made up of six of the smaller schools of the district was organized primarily because the football champion ship titles had come near year after year to the larger schools. Had the former once-once Groves City remained in effect, Grove City would have been declared the champion a year ago.

Original sponsor of the district conference plan first voted in 1927 and made official by the District 10 board of control in 1932 C. W. Johnson announced at Warren yesterday, coincident with release of the final standings, and individual scoring figures for the season.

The final reckoning of championship figures for the current season gives East's Warriors a record of three victories and one tie to edge out Erie Academy whose conference count was two wins and two ties. Grove City swept the Class A league without a defeat in the games adding to its four straight wins last year.

Individual Bill Crane the Meadowville Bulldogs' great climax runner, came out as the district's top scorer. Three touchdowns behind Grove City's Sam Puntieri going into his last game, Crane came through with his finest exhibition of the season in scoring four times against a vaunted Warren team to set up a final total of 84 points, one touchdown ahead of Puntieri.

So far as the scoring is concerned, however, the best season-ending record belongs to Joe Maslak Franklin. The Nursery lad didn't even have his name in the scoring records during early publications of the scoring totals, but he came through with seven touchdowns and three extra points in his last three games to vault all the way to third place in the standings with 58 points.

New Champion!

Tony Zale

Above is the Gaty Ind steelworker who last night won a clean-cut decision over George Abrams to claim undisputed possession of the middleweight championship for the first time since the days of Mickey Walker nearly ten years ago. Zale may be pitted against Pittsburgh's Billy Conn.

ZALE DECISIONS ABRAMS TO RULE MIDDLEWEIGHTS

BY SID FEDER
New York, Nov. 29.—(P)—As a reward for a punishment for becoming the first whole, one-piece middleweight champion in a decade, Tony Zale sat back peacefully today and hoped for more of the same. He had just won a 12-round unanimous decision over 160-pounder George Abrams in Madison Square Garden. Boasting a body action like nothing that's been seen around these parts since Paul Berlenbach blasted guys wide open the Gary (Ind) steelworker came off the floor to mop up George Abrams in their rematch 160-pound title tussle last night in the Garden. But the distinction didn't look like such a pleasure today when Uncle Mike disclosed his plans. Under protest, Johnny Ray Conn's erstwhile manager, gave a half-hearted okay to the fight between his battler and the new middleweight boss, but along with Jacobs' beach, the beating was slightly better than even money that the tussle never would come off.

Certainly, Zale looked all over the best of the 160-pound collection in tossing those tummy topknots at Abrams after a first-round knockout before a crowd of 10,004. But a lot of the beachcombers scratched their heads and wondered why that win should shoo the sturdy steelworker head on into Conn. That's like hitting a punch-board for a baby grand piano provided you can carry it home.

Of course there wasn't much around for Zale in his own league. Until Zale moved in last night, there hadn't been an undisputed 160-pound boss since Mickey Walker tossed over the title some ten years back and started to tangle with the big guys like Max Baer and Jack Sharkey. The National Boxing Association, which recognized Tony as No. 1 boy in recent months, and the New York State Athletic Commission, which didn't give his blessing to anyone after Bill Sorensen advocated a few weeks back, had been at odds over the head man for all but a few weeks of that decade.

SCARLET TERRORS WIN OVER BEATY, 78 TO 22

The Scarlet Terrors won their second victory this week over the Beatty quintet yesterday morning when they compiled a 78-22 count (without use of an adding machine) in a game played on the Beatty court.

Wentworth scored ten field goals for the winners, as did Morgan, Lucia and Messier had five apiece, while DeStefano had nine.

Peterson got four to pace the losers.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Nov. 29.—(The Special News Service). If Oregon State wins the western Rose Bowl bid, you can look for some burned cars as well as a good game at Pasadena Nov. 30. But a lot of publicity Director Bud Forester's hint that the Beavers would like to play Fordham Missouri or Duke shows what's up. The northern teams of the coast conference, which have received plenty of blasts from their big time rivals in California, would like nothing better than to "retort." Well, we don't have to pick setups for the Rose Bowl. Dick Schorn, Princeton's Canadian-born captain (Turn To Page Five)

PENN STATE STUDENT RELATES INTERESTING TALE ABOUT HAROLD ZIMMERMAN; ALSO TELLS OF CRACK CAGE QUINTET OF STATE COLLEGE

Just because they aren't good enough to make the varsity squad doesn't keep a group of Penn State's athletes from playing basketball. Walt York, who hails from Chambers Valley, dropped into our office yesterday to say that the State's varsity team is made up of football players and party of other players in the school which is taking on all comers within striking distance. And they're looking for a game in this district. Walt, who was interested in the formation of a county basketball league before he went to college, tells us that the team played the Philadelphia Shphas at Hershey the other night and lost to the crack National League team by a mere 20 points. Incidentally, Walt is graduating next June and will immediately go into the army with a second lieutenant's commission as a result of his activity in the Penn State R. O. T. C.

During his visit, Walt commented that they're still talking on the State College campus about the performance of Harold Zimmerman, Warren's gift to the art of tumbling, in helping the freshman swimming team take over Cornell's frosh last year. It seems that Zimmerman, who is quite a swimmer, but never took time to do any diving, had a free Saturday on the day that the Lions were to meet the New York State's. The freshman swimming coach knew of Zimmerman's ability as a tumbler and figured that he should be able to dive. The freshman meet was scheduled for early afternoon, so during the morning the coach took Zimmerman to the pool and spent an hour giving him pointers. Going into the meet in the afternoon, the local lad knocked 'em cold and piled up more points than did Penn State's varsity squad diver in the main event of the day.

Zimmerman probably will stick to tumbling this year, although York tells us he may do some diving after the gym season is over. York visitor told us that Penn State will be back in the "big time" in football within another two years. By 1943 all of the past season's "bathers" will be eliminated from the schedule and will be replaced by some of the East's top teams. Slated to go are Bucknell, Lehigh and N. Y. U., among others. Michigan State and Navy are among the better teams coming on the schedule. By the way, Walt claims that the Nittany Lions are the least-publicized gridders in the nation and that the Higgins men are deserving of a better break. Every man on the State College starting line in the Pitt game was a sophomore, which speaks well for the future of the team. Only a small number of this year's players will be lost through graduation.
